Hello there,

My name is Shane Abrams, and I'll be your instructor for AP English Literature & Composition in the next school year. I'm looking forward to getting to know you, along with each of the students in our new class as we delve into college-level study.

Because AP classes are challenging, I want to get you started on the right foot with some summer work. I know that assignments over break are no one's favorite, but the work you'll be doing will set you on the right track for the course and for the AP exam. You will be building skills and concepts that will serve you not only this year, but also in college and beyond.

You can review the complete assignment here. It will be due in its entirety on the first day of class. I will reach out with more information about the course when it gets a bit closer.

This year will be my first at Ashland High; previously, I have taught high school in Vermont and Colorado, as well as college in Portland. I am excited to be joining your community! You'll have plenty of opportunities to ask questions when we meet in August, but in the meantime, don't hesitate to reach out. I'm here to support you in whatever capacity you need, so please feel empowered to maintain an open line of communication with me.

I hope you enjoy your summer! Talk to you soon.

Best,

Shane Abrams
